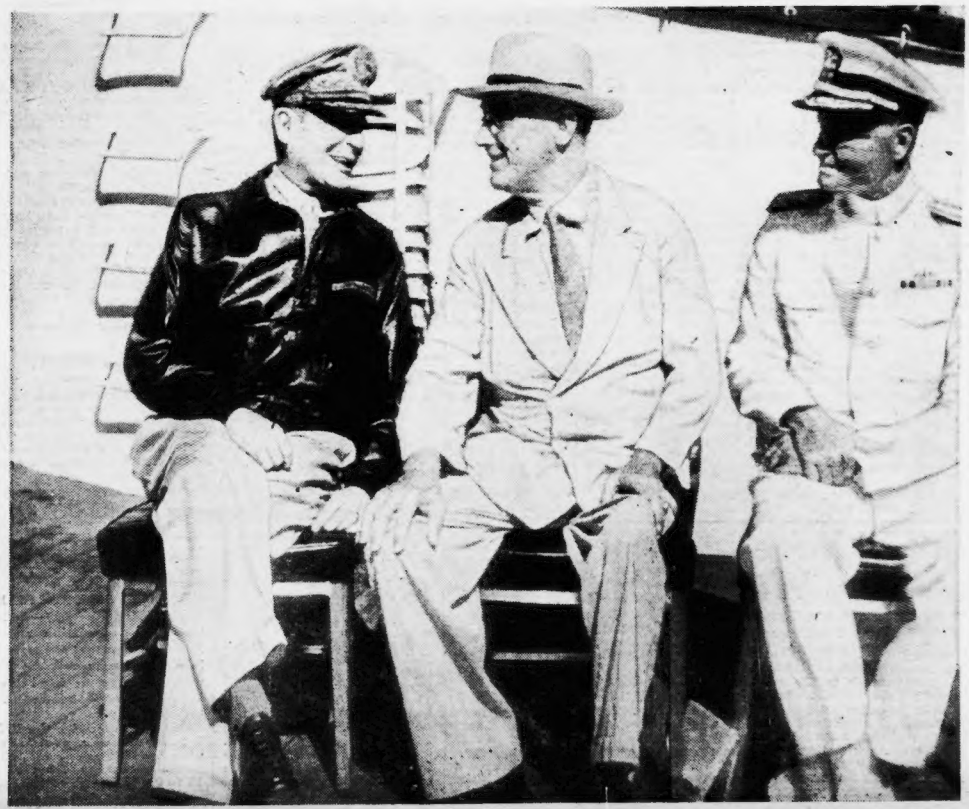
FDR SEES M'ARTHUR IN HAWAII



Roosevelt, M'Arthur, Nimitz in Honolulu

"It's good to see you, Doug," said President Roosevelt (center) when he greeted Gen. Douglas MacArthur (left) aboard the cruiser that carried him to Hawaii for three days of military conferences and inspections. Later, with Adm. Chester W. Nimitz (right) the over-all strategy of the Pacific was discussed . . . and the President told reporters that America's immediate war goals were to retake the Philippines and drive Japan to unconditional surrender.

Allies Grinding Toward Seine

By GLADWIN HILL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 10 (AP) — An American-British front extending in a winding 175-mile arc drove the Germans' battered forces back toward the Seine today in what the Nazis called the "battle for Paris."

The enemy's last report placed American vanguards within 87 miles of the French capital, and his next potential defense line appeared to be only 50 miles from Paris.

(CBS said there were unconfirmed reports that American troops had driven 50 miles beyond captured Le Mans to a point 60 miles from Paris—and another unofficial and unconfirmed report that the Americans were only 40 miles from the French capital.)

Behind the moving battleline, American infantry and armor, speeding the one-by-one reduction of Brittany's strategic ports, broke into Nantes, according to unofficial reports. Todays' official announcements only mentioned the reaching of that city 30 miles up the Loire river.

Both Angers, a city 80 miles up he Loire, and Lorient, German J-boat base, were surrounded by American forces.

St. Malo was captured, although oday's communique said a few ermans remained to be dealt ith.

BEST BLASTED

Brest, French naval base at the estern tip of Brittany, and most portant prize in the peninsula, as under heavy attack by Amerians fighting the remnants of three Nazi divisions who had refused to surrender.

At Nantes, France's eighth city with a population of 195,000 the Germans apparently were relying upon minefields and other obstacles rather than active opposition.

At the northern end of the Allied arc the Canadian First Army, having smashed counter-attacks from Rommel's breached lines, edged toward the last hillock protecting Falaise.

Here the Germans were withdrawing into the town for a showdown battle after having been forced back 16 miles from Caen.

Typhoons, with their rocket guns, played a great part in the shattering of German counter-attacks here, knocking out 33 tanks and damaging, destroying or leaving ablaze 212 other enemy vehicles.

300 NAZI TANKS LOST

Rommel was believed to have lost about 300 tanks, the complement of about two armored divisions, since Sunday.

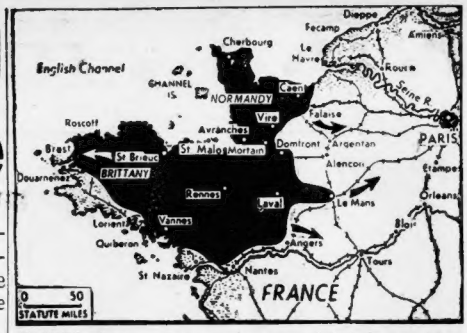
On the Canadians' right the British Second Army of Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey widened its bridgehead across the River Orne in a 4000-yard advance above Thury-Harcourt, 14 miles southwest of Caen, and in another coordinated thrust threatened to pinch off that stronghold on the Orne.

Headquarters confirmed the capture of the major rail center of Le Mans (Pop. 84,525) but did not disclose there whereabouts of swift American armored column which swept through that city, 110 miles from Paris.

British tommies striking south captured Brieux, La Bagotiere and La Moissoniere and seized the crossroads town of Forge a Cambro. Another British column captured Tremblay.

Farther southwest, British tanks burst through German defenses and captured Roulours, 3500 yards southeast of Vire. The Germans still clung desperately to Estry.

The Germans are believed to have few more than 10 divisions to hold all of southern France.



FRANCE—American troops push on toward Paris from Le Mans today while Canadians neared Falaise in another pronged drive on the French capital. In Brittany, Yanks attacked outer defenses of Brest, surround Angers and Lorient. Allies control area shown in black.

Reds Flanking 2 Nazi Centers

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP)—A grave new Russian flanking threat to both East Prussia and Warsaw in the area "west of the upper Narew river," a famous battleground of the last war, was disclosed today in the German communique.

"West of the upper Narew river, repeated Soviet attacks were either beaten off or checked," the Berlin bulletin said.

The German radio also reported Russian troops were across the Vistula only 25 miles southeast of Warsaw, the nearest crossing to the Polish capital yet reported.

The Narew, where Falkenhayn broke Russian lines just 29 years ago and forced armies of the Czar to evacuate the Warsaw salient, meanders near the south border of East Prussia, generally five to 15 miles away.

Any appreciable advance west of the Narew would outflank East Prussia and expose German armies there to Entrapment, just as the 20 to 25 divisions of the 16th and 18th armies have been reported cut off in Latvia and Estonia.

Similarly, such a drive would outflank Warsaw to the north, just as the Polish capital has been flanked loosely to the south by a 4-mile bridgehead west of the Vistula in the area about 110 miles below Warsaw.

Moscow also reported Russian artillery near the eastern frontier of East Prussia was incessantly shelling German communications and boundary towns. The German communique said "counter-attacks of our troops are going on at Vilkaviskis," in Lithuania, 12 miles from the "holy soil" of Germany.

For a week or so, Marshal Stalin's Russian communiques have shown that Herculean German defense stands have slowed the Red armies along the 1200-mile front.

The German announcement today and the suggestions in last night's Moscow bulletin indicated that the Russian armies between Warsaw and East Prussia were charging forward again.

REDS GAIN—Russians plunge ahead on three fronts, taking Skole in driving into the Carpathians, pushing north of Siedlce in central zone, seizing Bene in the Riga area and Bertgale in the Daugavpils sector.

35 German Evacuation Boats Seen in Baltic

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—The British radio said in a German language broadcast today Stockholm had reported 35 empty German vessels sighted in the Baltic, traveling in the direction of Estonia and Latvia.

"This seems to indicate the Germans may attempt to evacuate troops and materials by sea," said the broadcast, recorded by the Office of War Information.

Incendiaries Added to Robots

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP)—German robot bombs now are carrying incendiaries, the Ministry of Home Security announced today.

Examination of the new weapons showed that each of the flying bombs which fell recently in south England carried about 20 incendiaries. The fire missiles are scattered by the force of the flying bomb explosion after the robot touches earth.

The ministry said present methods of fighting bomb-set fires would be continued.

The home security ministry repeated today a grim warning that those evacuating London should take their gas masks with them.

After a 24-hour lull, a few of the robots droned over London and te southern counties shortly after daybreak today.

A number of persons were injured.

U. S. Subs Sink 16 More Jap Vessels, Including Warship

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—American submarines, operating in Japanese waters have destroyed 16 more vessels including a Jap warship, the Navy announced today.

The latest bag of the far-ranging submersibles, which may have operated in coastal waters of the Japanese homeland, brings to 839 the number of Jap ships of all types sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarines alone.

In that total were 54 warships definitely sent to the bottom, 11 probably sunk and 14 damaged. Damage to the enemy merchant fleet includes 633 ships sunk, 26 probably sunk and 101 damaged.

A medium-sized tanker was included in the latest announcement.

Against this, American submarine losses now stand at 27, of which three were lost in non-combat activity.

Balkan Peace Rumors Grow

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP)—New rumblings that two of Hitler's Balkan satellites, Bulgaria and Romania, are seeking a way out of the war came today from Turkey, but so far there has been no official Allied word to lift this or any of the previous reports out of the category of rumor.

An Istanbul dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Frank O'Brien said reports, wholly unconfirmed, were that Bulgaria had asked the Turkish government to arrange peace terms with the Allies.

Other unsubstantiated Turkish reports represented Romania as carefully watching for any Russian-Finnish peace moves as a guide to whether the time is propitious to quit. It was said that a new government, already formed, would take over and ask Russia for an armistice if the terms to Finland are moderate.

Dr. Floyd Henson Black, for 18 years president of the American College in Bulgaria and now president of the American College in Istanbul, has hurried to Ankala, and it is believed the U. S. embassy had called him into consultation. He is a personal friend of the Bulgarian minister to Turkey, Nikola Balabanov.

The western Allies are said to have demanded that Bulgaria oust German armed units before talking about an armistice. Ivan Bagrianov, premier of the puppet government in Sofia, was reported "determined to get the Germans out." Less than one German division was said to remain in Bulgaria.

Japs Claim Yank China Disaster

By Associated Press

Japan boasted today that American forces suffered a "major disaster" in the claimed capture of Hengyang, perhaps seeking solace for the Japanese debacle on Guam—now cleared of all organized resistance—and for multiplying reverses on every other battlefront of the Pacific war.

Whatever its success at Hengyang, Japan had still to close a 170-mile gap in the Hankow-Canton railway below the city, and Chungking vowed bitterest resistance to prevent that.

The last organized enemy resistance on Guam ended Tuesday, Adm. Nimitz disclosed, after 19 days of rugged battling.

The first U. S. soldiers to join the China ground fighting fired anti-aircraft guns point-blank at Japanese positions on Sungshan mountain in Yunnan Province. Capture of Sungshan would clear a 25-mile stretch of the Burma Road west of the Salween river.

In North Burma Allied troops captured Taungni, 10 miles below Mogaung on the road to Mandalay.

Systematic reduction of Japanese pinned in the New Guinea pocket brought the total of enemy dead to at least 7007, Gen. MacArthur reported.

The British continued pressure on Japs retreating from India.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Marshal Tito and members of his Yugoslav army staff made an incognito visit at St. Peter's Basilica, the Vatican News Service said.

Goebbels Bans Entertainment

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Propaganda Minister Goebbels banned all public meetings and entertainments in Germany not directly connected with the war today in a series of sweeping decrees seeking troops for the Reich's depelted armies.

Reds See Victory in Mid '45

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Henry Cassidy, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Moscow, brought home today a Russian prediction it will take until next summer to crush Germany militarily.

Cassidy quoted an unidentified Soviet authority who, he said, is in as good a position as any one to know what's going on. The prediction was qualified by a statement that the unexpected, such as the next bomb hitting Hitler, would change the outlook.

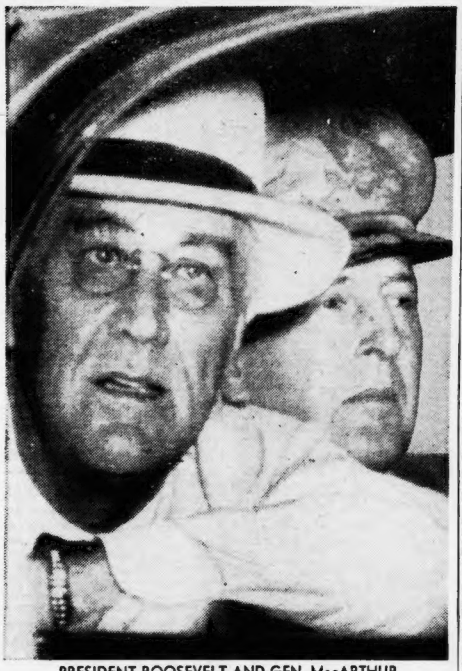
Cassidy has been in Moscow four years. He says there is little over-optimism there about an early end to the war.

Yanks in Invasion Expect Victory in '44

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN FRANCE, Aug. 10 (AP)—So intense is the conviction among American troops that Germany is in a state of near collapse that many already are placing bets on her fall anywhere between Oct. 1 and New Year's.

Correspondents with the U. S. First Army formed a pool bet on when Paris will be captured, with predictions ranging from Aug. 15 to Oct. 1. The favorite date i nthe pool is Sept. 1.

F. D. R., MacArthur Hold Hawaii Parley



PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND GEN. MacARTHUR

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AT PEARL HARBOR, July 29 (Delayed) (INS)—At the spot where the Japanese delivered their sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, President Roosevelt today concluded a war strategy conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the Pacific high command, aimed at Japan's early defeat and 'unconditional surrender."

The President conferred for three days with MacArthur and the admirals and generals who are relentlessly driving the Japanese back to their island homeland.

The war strategy meeting covered the Pacific war front from the Aleutians to New Guinea and the South Pacific. It was the President's first meeting with MacArthur in seven years. He greeted the general with a friendly "It's good to see you, Doug."

WARNING TO JAPS

Mr. Roosevelt said he asked Gen. MacArthur to take greetings from the chief executive to the men on the Pacific fighting fronts and to tell them we are going to bring them back as soon as the safety of the country will permit.

The President said he will report to the nation on his Pacific trip—his first war journey this year—but gave no indication of a date. In his speech accepting Democratic renomination, he had said he has no time for political campaigning in the usual sense, but would report to the people from time to time.

The chief executive, both as President and commander-in-chief of the U. S. armed forces, warned the Japanese the war will be prosecuted against them on sea, land and in the air with swiftly mounting fury until the Land of the Rising Sun capitulates in "unconditional surrender."

Mr. Roosevelt declared:

1—Gen. MacArthur will, at the proper time, return to the Philippines.

2—The only end for Japan is "unconditional surrender." As enunciated first at Casablanca and reiterated here at Pearl Harbor, it stands, he said, for both Japan and Germany.

3—We will clean up Japan—whatever it requires.

4—United States forces have conclusively seized the offensive in the Pacific, and this will continue with progressive violence and mounting intensity until Japan is overwhelmingly defeated.

5—Long-range strategy was mapped in the conference with

Why We'll Win Over Japs

HONOLULU, July 29 (AP)—(delayed) — A reporter asked President Roosevelt today if he could explain why American soldiers are better than the Japanese at the latter's own specialty—jungle and atoll fighting.

Here is the President's reply:

"Perhaps it sounds a little like boasting but perhaps it is the difference between our type of civilization and our type of fellow and their type of civilization and their type of fellow.

"We'll take them on at any game—war or pleasure—and we'll beat them at it."

President Sees Wounded Men

HONOLULU, July 29 (AP) (delayed) — President Roosevelt got a close look at the realities of war today—and three wounded jungle fighters probably got the surprise of their young lives.

The President's automobile rolled along an airstrip at Hickam Field and stopped at the far end almost under the wing of a huge Air Transport Command ambulance plane bringing in wounded from Saipan.

Mr. Roosevelt and his party looked on as litter-bearers carefully transferred 32 bandaged men from the airplane to waiting ambulances. Three of the litters came in close to the President's car, and he reached out to shake hands with the veterans.

Mr. Roosevelt also visited the huge Navy hospital at Aeia and the Army's 147th general hospital. Most of the patients were wounded at Saipan or in the Marshalls.

ONE JAP SCAR LEFT

As the President passed along the wards he chatted with the men and discussed the operation of the hospitals with nurses and doctors.

The hospital visits were only a part of the Chief Executive's tour of this island.

He traveled almost every section to inspect navy yards, army posts, ammunition dumps, supply bases and huge, sprawling airports studded with fighting craft.

Many of the planes and tanks carried the scars of battle and bore on their sides the miniature Jap flags showing victories in combat.

Only in one place did Mr. Roosevelt have a chance to see a trace of the Dec. 7, 1941, damage—and he may have missed that. There were a few shattered windows in a building at Wheeler Field, airport near Schofield barracks, and a soldier said they were broken during the Jap bomb raid.

LIKE REAL WARFARE

Mr. Roosevelt went into the jungle mountains to watch the grim business of a unit jungle training center where combat units are given their final instructions how to fight and live in the jungle before moving on to actual combat.

Live ammunition chattered and roared in the underbrush of the hills. The presidential party watched one combat team wipe out a pillbox in less than five minutes and saw another fight door-to-door through a simulated Jap village to overpower a sham military headquarters with grenades, machine-guns and rifles.

Thousands of men have gone through the week's training to prepare them for battle.

In hour on hour of travel the party saw the Marine air station, naval air station, a huge ammunition dump spread out through heavily guarded mountains, a city of Navy Seabees, Ft. Shafter and other installations.

The party stopped at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel—in peacetime the showplace of Waikiki beach but now a rest center for submarine crews.

PRAISE FOR SEABEES

Seven times in his tours the President stopped to speak to the men who stood at stiff attention on either side of his car. Here are some typical excerpts:

To the Seventh Division: "Your commander-in-chief brings you greetings from your own families, your own homes, to you here at this spot which, thank God, is still a part of the United States. We are all proud of the Seventh."

To the Seabees: "The Seabees have come forward as an institution more quickly than any one I know of in the whole of our history, and all of us back home and out at the front are mighty proud of you."

To the fleet Marine force: "I am glad to have this chance to see another bunch of Marines . . . I am very, very proud of you."

To the submarine rest center at the Royal Hawaiian hotel: "I was here 10 years ago—lived right here in these quarters, on the top floor. I hope you will be just as comfortable and happy here as I was because you deserve it a lot more."

Fala on F. D. Ship

HONOLULU, July 29 (delayed) (AP)—Fala came 2000 miles aboard the Presidential cruiser to Hawaii but he got only a glimpse of fabled Waikiki from the deck.

Recently tightened quarantine laws confining canines were not relaxed even for Fala, and President Roosevelt asked no special favors for his five-year-old Scottie.

So Fala lolled aboard, well behaved and well loved by officers and crew. A Presidential aide kept a close watch over the Scottie's welfare with daily telephone calls to the ship.

Only incident: A sailor plucked one of Fala's hairs for a souvenir.

Beef and Lamb Meat Bargain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (INS)—The Office of Price Administration announced today removal of point ration values from utility grade beef and lamb and the return to rationing of pork loins, hams and canned fish, effective Aug. 13.

OPA likewise boosted the point values on cheeses from 2 to 4 points, but kept butter at its present 16 points per pound.

"Points for better grades of beef steaks and roasts and for better grades of lamb steaks and roasts continue at their present level because many areas are in short supply," OPA Chief Chester Bowles declared.

Cuts of beef and lamb that are now ration free remain unchanged.

The new point values for cuts from pork loins will range from 4 per pound for end cuts to 8 per pound for center cuts, Bowles said, with the whole loin at 5 points.

REAL MEAT BARGAIN

Hams, including smoked, will be five points per pound, with the shank end at two points and slices at nine points per pound.

Point values for canned fish—salmon, bonito, shrimp, tuna and yellow tail—wer set at six points per pound; mackerel and sardines at four, while canned oysters and miscellaneous products were given a value of two points per pound.

The new point charts, distributed two weeks later than usual, contain no new changes for processed foods.

Commenting on reduction of utility grade beef to zero, Bowles said housewives will "have a real meat bargain—beef which is high in protein value, point free, and which sells for lower prices than those charged for top grades."

"The production of utility grades of beef and lamb to zero should not be taken as an indication of large supplies of meat," Bowles warned.

"Actually the over-all supply of meat for civilians in August is less than it was in July. There has been a seasonal decline in pork production while the supply of beef is about the same."

Legion Drive On Discharges

Intensive pressure to assure overseas veterans of World War II of a change in designation of "undesirable" in their discharges was urged today by State Adj. Coleman C. Curran as the State Department, American Legion, opened its three-day annual convention at Hotel Statler.

ADVANCED — Marine Sgt. Muriel L. Chagnot of Rockwell pl., Milton, recently was promoted to that rank at El Toro, Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, Cal., where she is a clerk-typist in a squadron office. Marine Corps Photo

In his report Curran spoke of the work of the State Department in aiding passage of the GI "Bill of Rights," but asserted there was need to make sure the cases of such discharged men were heard by the Veterans' Administration to entitle them to the benefits of the bill.

State Com. John L. Delay also presented a resolution for establishment immediately of a regional veterans' administration office in downtown Boston with a full staff instead of the present system whereby veterans must travel to West Roxbury.

Addresses by Mayor Tobin and Past National Com. Raymond Kelley featured the opening session for which 2000 delegates gathered for a convention in which the problems of returning servicemen of the present war were expected to occupy chief interest.

Reflecting the seriousness of the wartime business confronting them, delegates reserved most of the convention color and recreation for Saturday when more than 10,000 will march in the first big Legion parade since Pearl Harbor.

The convention executive committee will be guests of Mayor Tobin at a dinner tonight. Later, county caucuses will be held, with the Norfolk group meeting at 9 p. m., and the Bristol County delegates an hour later.

Election interests centers in the three-cornered fight for state commander, in which William F. Cambell of Wollaston, who drew the most votes for vice commander last year, is opposing Vice-Comdrs. Thomas F. Mackey of Somerville and Timothy F. McLaughlin of Roxbury. Balloting is scheduled for Saturday morning.

Military and naval units will take part in the big parade which starts Saturday at 2 p. m.

More Soldier Ballots

Another 420 applications for ballots for Boston men and women in the armed forces today were on file at city hall. A total of 170 were filed at city hall and the remainder at the 11 branch offices established for that purpose throughout the city.

Put in Oil Now, Families Urged

Householders who depend upon fuel oil for heating may face "a very precarious winter," Richard P. Doherty, state emergency fuel conservator warned today.

High officials of the Petroleum Administration for War, in Washington, have advised him this will be the outlook unless military demands are noticeably reduced by Germany's surrender, Doherty said. He added:

"Barring unusual cold spells extending over considerable periods there will undoubtedly be sufficient oil to avert serious human suffering, but it will be a thin situation for householders unless the European war ends."

He urged home owners to fill their oil tanks now so dealers might have more storage space to replenish their stocks.

Doherty described the kerosene outlook as "fairly good." It is expected New England will receive about 10 per cent more than it did last winter, he stated.

Draft Board Poesy Admits 10-Year Error on Hub Man

Blessed with a sense of humor, New Bedford Draft Board 108 saw the point today and made profuse and poetic penance to Thomas J. Riley, Boston American staff writer.

Riley, who lives with his wife and three children in Euston rd., Brighton, had written to the board in protest against being classified as 26 and 2-A when he actually is 16 years older.

In lilting lyric, the board replied:

"We guess our minds were playing tricks
When we made you a 26.
We've all been working very hard,
We humbly beg your gracious pardon.
But even though you're 10 years older
Please have this filled out for your folder."

In his answer to a request to fill out an occupational affidavit which listed him as 26, Riley has written.

"I am returning as received the form you sent on the presumption that my youth is nothing more than a clerical error. My birth record states I was born in New Bedford in 1908. This also is borne out by my school records, employment files, hearsay, list of birthday cards, wrinkles, lack of teeth, gray hair, general appearance, recurring fatigue, marriage statistics, more wrinkles and gray hair."

Wife, 3 Children Will Hike To N.J., Bid Soldier Goodby

Desperately intent on having her soldier-husband see their three little daughters before he goes overseas, Mrs. Florence Williams of Bedford st., Lynn, was preparing today to hitchhike to New Jersey with the children.

She has exhausted all possibilities known to her of negotiating a loan of $50.

Mrs. Williams is the sister of Pvt. Leo Gagne, first Lynn soldier killed in World War II. He was slain in the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor.

She is the wife of Pvt. Arnold L. Williams, stationed in New Jersey. Their children are Beverly, 6; Norma, 9 and Margaret, 6.

Last Monday Mrs. Williams received a wire from her husband. He asked her to go to the home of her aunt, Dora Jenkins, Main st., Dover, N. J. "Bring the children and plan to stay a week," the soldier wired.

Mrs. Williams had no money. She had been a war worker at the General Electric plant until last March, when she was hurt. In May she had to undergo an operation which has precluded her going back.

"There seemed to be just one chance," she said. "I have a notice from the internal revenue bureau it will send me a $75 refund because I overpaid my income tax when I had the war job. I took it to the Red Cross and asked if they would accept it as security for a loan of $50. They explained they could only let me have money for sickness or dire necessity."

Mrs. Williams said she then went to soldiers' relief officials at Lynn City Hall but with similar lack of success.

"So we will hitchhike," the mother declared. "The children haven't seen their father since April. I can't let him go overseas and possibly to his death without kissing them good-by."

Tarzan Blamed

HARWICH, Aug. 10—The mantle of shame and blame for "indecency" today was lifted from the curvaceous shoulders of shorts-clad ladies and draped ignominiously upon the hairy and matted chests of summer colony males.

Mollifying scores of the fairer sex, a spokesman for the board of selectmen announced that the drive to make folks dress up while on shopping tours began after "shocking displays" by the menfolk.

It was a hairy-chested Tarzan—a very fat Tarzan—who started it all by strolling through the market district clad only in abbreviated shorts and a pair of house slippers, displaying a chest which would warm the heart of a mattress maker.

However, Sgt. Isaiah Kelley, charged with passing out "decency tags" to both men and women whose costumes are too snug and brief, still had a good supply on hand and passed them out—although a bit reluctantly.

His reluctance followed the statement by Judge Gershom Hall of Barnstable district court that passing out the tags, as far as prosecution goes, was just a waste of time.

"There is no town ordinance under which the police can come into court," Judge Hall said. "The voters refused to pass one at the last town meeting

Fr. Brock Hailed In Charlestown

Charlestown will officially welcome home Capt. Laurence M. Brock, S. J., hero chaplain of the 182d Infantry tonight with a street parade and public reception in the State Armory in Bunker Hill st., Charlestown.

Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard detachments will be in the line of march along with former members of the 182d Inf. who served in the South Pacific with Fr. Brock.

Gov. Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin will extend greetings on behalf of the State and city. Charles Frascotti of Worcester, department commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars, will induct Fr. Brock into Charlestown Post, which is sponsoring the celebration.

A special section in the Armory will be reserved for Gold Star mothers and wives of service men who died in World War II.

The parade will form at 7 p. m. in Sullivan sq. and move along Main st., to Chelsea st., to Bunker Hill st., to the Armory.

Chairman of the event is VFW Suffolk County Comdr. David M. Cleary.

Hub Teachers Plan Fight to Hold Jobs

Any attempt to replace women teachers with men as a result of the current investigation into charges of poor discipline in the public schools will be fought to the end by the Boston Elementary Teachers' Ass'n., the president, Miss Catherine M. McHugh, said today.

Miss McHugh's statement came as a board of seven school executives began probing accusations of Alexander M. Sullivan, school business manager, that discipline in Boston schools is "terrible" and his recommendation that more men teachers are needed to remedy the situation.

"If the women teachers are given the backing of their masters and of the authorities in town, there can be no question of their maintaining discipline in any of the grades. I know that because in our district we are getting 100 per cent backing. The boys know that they have to behave themselves and they do."

The investigating board of seven named by Dr. Patrick J. Foley, school committee chairman, is headed by Supt. Arthur L. Gould and includes his six assistants, William J. Barry, Michael J. Downey, Edward J. Muldoon, Katharine C. McDonnell, Frederick J. Gillis and Dennis C. Haley.

Sullivan told the school committee that conditions at the Mary E. Curley School, Jamaica Plain, and the Joseph H. Barnes School, East Boston, were especially bad. At all schools, he blamed women teachers for lack of strict standards, and asked that male teachers, especially ex-servicemen, be given posts now held by women.

"I can't see where hiring ex-servicemen would correct conditions," Dr. Foley said. "If there are disciplinary problems in our schools they will be corrected at once."

The seven-man investigating board will report back as soon as possible.

$200 Support Toll Too High

David C. Percival, Jr., Boston jewelry salesman, would be a candidate for the neatest trick of the year if he could keep up support payments of $200 monthly on his salary of $49 weekly.

At least that apparently was the opinion of Judge Daniel A. Rollins of Brookline district court in finding Percival not guilty of non-support and neglect of his estranged wife, Esther, Boston and Brookline socialite, and their two children, Sarah, 10, and David, 3d.

Judge Rollins found Percival innocent on the ground that he was giving his wife $25 a week and making additional weekly payments on bills.

Great good fortune continued today to fall upon "Buster," the ex-alley cat and male Cinderella named as heir to the fortune of his late master, Woodbury Rand of Clark rd., Brookline.

"Buster" now has a book as well as riches.

It was sent to him by a Canadian woman, who addressed it to him personally, in care of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., where Buster keeps his dough.

It tells him how to keep in good shape and for goodness sake to lay off rich foods if he wants his fur to look like anything at all.

As executor and trustee of Woodbury Rand's will, the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Co., is also Buster's guardian pro tem and it is duty bound to turn the book over to him.

WOMAN ON PHONE

However, it is not bound to turn over the money Rand left him until seven of Rand's disinherited cousins have had their say in Dedham probate court next month and judgment is passed.

Eldon Stark, trust officer, has been assigned to drop out to the Brookline house at intervals, if the will sticks, to see if all goes well with Buster. This is in accordance with instructions left by Rand.

A Baltimore woman who previously wrote the bank she expected her cat would be given a share of Buster's take, because she was sure they were related (both tiger cats), has been on the telephone about it, too, one of the officials disclosed.

The fact is, Buster's ancestry and family connections are not known. Rand picked him up in an animal refuge eight years ago and took him home to luxury. It is also known, very definitely known, that Buster has no children. He cuts a fine figure on a back fence and is capable of a romantic meow-but that's as far as it goes.

An authority on that is Mrs. Margaret T. Thomson, Rand's former housekeeper, whom he designated as Buster's caretaker in his will.

LOVES CHEESE

"Buster," she said today, "does seem to like a gray cat named "Twinkle," who lives nearby. He does not care for other cats and he doesn't like dogs at all. He considers Twinkle very glamorous and acts foolish when he looks out the window and sees her going by."

He doesn't lose his appetite, however. He breakfasts simply on a bowl of milk, then spends a half-hour tidying himself up.

For lunch he has liver, or kidneys, or perhaps a little something fixed up with the yolk of an egg. He loves cheese and if he had his own way would probably eat too much of it, Mrs. Thomson said.

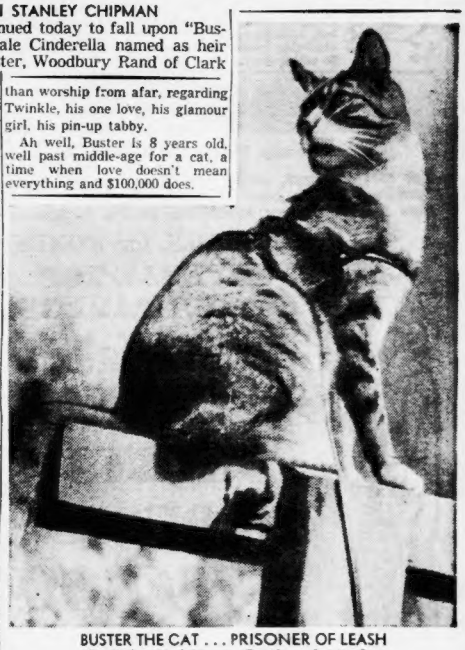
The rest of the day Buster spends in a manner that would be monotonous to most people with $100,000 in the bank. He casts a weather eye outside to see which way the sun is shining, then stretches out in a patch of it underneath a window.

When the sun moves, Buster moves with it, completing the performance usually in a bedroom where he soaks up the evening rays.

In the evening, after exercise on a leash, he settled down to a good snooze to rest up for a night's sleep.

Money in the bank but no night life for Buster. And nothing more than worship from afar, regarding Twinkle, his one love, his glamour girl, his pin-up tabby.

Ah well, Buster is 8 years old, well past middle-age for a cat, a time when love doesn't mean everything and $100,000 does.



BUSTER THE CAT . . . PRISONER OF LEASH
His Riches Bind Him to Earth as Spirits Soar

And All's Well!

SHREWSBURY, Aug. 10—All's well that doesn't end in a well.

You can take that on the word of 86-year-old Mrs. John Ennes. She was trapped for eight hours in a 12-foot dry well when a board cover gave way as she walked across it.

A neighbor finally heard her shouts and Mrs. Ennes was pulled to safety. She refused medical aid and walked home.

25 Priests Ordained By Bishop Cushing

Twenty-five young men were ordained to the Catholic priesthood today by Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D. D., administrator of Boston archdiocese, at ceremonies as old as the church itself, in Holy Name Church, West Roxbury.

The impressive ceremonies were witnessed by a congregation of relatives and friends of the young men which filled the beautiful structure.

The ordination rites began with a procession of the young men into the sanctuary wearing black cassocks. On their arms they carried the vestments of priesthood.

As the long and interesting ceremony proceeded, each was vested with the vestments symbolic of their entry into the priesthood.

The service was climaxed with the solemn imposition of hands by Bishop Cushing and more than 30 clergy of the archdiocese.

Following their ordination the priests bestowed their first blessings on hundreds who gathered to greet them. Most of the newly ordained clergymen will celebrate their first public masses in their home parishes next Sunday.

Assisting Bishop Cushing were Rt. Rev. Edward G. Murray, D. D., rector of St. John's Seminary, Brighton; Rev. Robert H. Lord, Ph. D., vice-rector of St. John's; Rev. Walter J. Strikes Spread, 40,000 Idle

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Labor disputes spread rapidly across the nation today to keep some 40,000, and possibly double that number, idle.

Government intervention seemed likely in the Midwest truck drivers' strike halting over-the-road shipments in at least eight states.

Maj. Alex Baxter, Army 6th Transportation Zone, Chicago, estimated 6000 drivers out, but Thomas Flynn, AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters official, calculated "about 30,000" affected.

At five Paterson, N. J., area plants of Wright Aeronautical Corp. a company spokesman figured the total of strikers at 3,200, but the CIO-United Auto Workers' Union placed it at 20,000.

More than 10,000 were idle in Detroit where federal conciliators sought to end walkouts at the General Motors' Chevrolet gear and axle division, involving 7000 and the Briggs Manufacturing Co., about 3300.

New stoppages included 520 at the Tennessee Products Corp. mines, Whitwell, Tenn., and 523 at the Todd-Houston Shipbuilding Corp., Houston, Tex.

There were at least two dozen more disputes in the United States, and the Montreal Tramway system continued idle.

British Repatriates Below List Expected

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 10 (AP)—British civilian repatriates began disembarking from the exchange liner Drottningholm today shortly after the ship's arrival from Lisbon, but a ministry of health official said their number was considerably less than the 900 originally expected.

The official said inquiries aboard the ship showed some discrepancy between the passenger list and the one which had been supplied earlier.

Fifty New England veterans of the 12th and 15th air forces, based in Italy and the Mediterranean, arrived at their homes today on 21-day furloughs under the Army's rotation leave system.

Dies Lashes Biddle PAC Probe Ruling

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—The New Deal interpretation of the Hatch "clean politics" act in placing violations in the hands of agency heads "beholden to the Administration" today was viewed as a complete emasculation of the measure by Rep. Martin Dies, chairman of the House un-American Activities Investigating Committee.

As a countermove to Atty. Gen. Biddle's rejection of his demand for an investigation under Section 9 of the Hatch act of the collusion between numerous government officials and the CIO-Political Action Committee, Dies plans to put the evidence directly up to the heads of the various federal agencies.

These departmental heads will then be asked to report to Congress or a Dies sub-committee.

Biddle turned down Dies' request for an inquiry into the liaison between federal officials and the PAC on the grounds that any violation of the Hatch act was not a criminal matter and therefore did not come within the "investigate or prosecute jurisdiction of the Justice Department."

Members of Congress were quoted as saying it was "ridiculous" to think that New Deal agency heads would discharge employes for any political activity.

Some of the telephone calls by officers of the PAC, termed by Dies as Communist-dominated and the "political arm of the New Deal," were linked to the White House.

Chief Investigator Robert E. Stripling asserted it was significant that there had been not one denial from any of the 77 government officials named in the report although it had been two weeks since it had been made public.

"Nor has any agency head or representative called up the committee regarding the evidence," Stripling added.

New N.Y. Airport Pilots' Dream

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Describing it as "a pilot's dream," Mayor LaGuardia has revealed plans for New York's new municipal airport at Idlewild, Queens.

The design provides for six runways, two 10,000 feet in length, with the others ranging from 6000 to 8200 feet, the mayor said, adding that the field eventually would have 12 runways. In addition, joint proposals if the city and major airlines which will use the field, plan for a terminal in midfield and 5½ miles of taxiways.

Cost of the first stage of construction would be approximately $47,969,000, City Comptroller Joseph D. Mc Goldrick said.

Infantry Sought Action in France

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ENGLAND—Here are some more New England infantrymen with whom we expected to march (or sail) into Normandy. All were happy at the prospect of impending action.

"Why sit around over here for a year?" they reasoned. "Sooner we swing into action, the sooner we'll get home." They got their wish. They're in the thick of it.

Sgt. John J. Downing, 25, of 71 Hilburn st., Roslindale. This tall, voluble lad was a member of a machine gun company. He had graduated from English High in '36, traveled for Kresge's stores. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sisters Mary and Claire were married, and their husbands were in the service. He himself had enlisted in March '42 after leaving the hospital. He corresponded with Florence Dever of New York, liked swimming and marathoning. "We never swim over here," he said, then wanted to know if Clarence De Mar had run the Marathon this year. "I loved to go to Hopkinton and watch the start of the race."

Frank Keegan

Corp. Robert Kline, 24, of 35 Whiting st., Lynn. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Philip. He had graduated from Lynn Classical in '38, worked in Sharaf Shoe, Lynn. He missed his swims at Lynn Beach, hoped to resume them in '45.

PFC Paul Fay, 20, of 22 Rossiter st., Brandon, Vt. Paul was clerking at Brando Inn until lunch hour of Friday, March 13, '42. "You'll be back at 2 o'clock?" asked Manager Richard Widlund. He wasn't. He had received permission from his parents to enlist (before 18 draft) and was signed, sealed and delivered at Ft. Devens at 5 p. m. the same day. At furlough time, Brando made quite a to-do about his enlistment. He was 18, his mother, Mrs. Harley W. Fay, only 40. "Youngest mother of youngest enlistee in town," screamed the banners. Since then Paul picked up a bride (Hazel Panter) in Tennessee. "I'll bring her to New England when I return," he promised.

Lt. Alexander Jurkowski, 35, of 6 West ave., Ludlow. Alex was a cop in Ludlow and while in OCS at Ft. Benning, qualified for a sergeancy, which will be awaiting him. He was with the old 26th Division from 1927 until it was federalized in December, '41. He's been married five years, and his wife is with his mother at 6 West ave. "Tell her I've raised a mustache and am smoking a pipe," he smiled. "I didn't dare do either at home." Brother John, 19, is also in the Army.

Lt. Harold E. Christenson, Preston st., West Boylston. Christy, a square-shouldered, handsome youngster, looks like an athlete, but wasn't because "West Boylston High had only four boys, three girls in the senior class when I graduated." He worked for a time in Norton's Worcester, has been in the service since January, '41.

PFC Frank Keegan, Jr., 24, of 424 No. Main st., Woonsocket, R. I. Frank graduated from Woonsocket High in '37, later was a milling machine operator at Taft-Pierce Mfg. Co. ("Say 'Hello' to Jim Callahan for me.") Frank's hobby is dancing. Here's a wish he'll be dancing in Paris soon, and not from buzz-bombitis.

5000 Women Back Jury Service Right

By PAULINE WARREN

A clear-cut accusation that women have been cheated of their right to serve on juries in Massachusetts through ridicule, was leveled today at "a few of our less thoughtful representatives and senators who have been in the habit of making a joke of this much-needed legislation."

The accusers—5000 strong—are members of the State League of Women Voters and, with this statement from their president, Mrs. Arthur Whittemore, they are in the fight to correct the deprivation inflicted when the Massachusetts Supreme Court ruled, after women were given the vote, that they were not "persons" within the scope of the jury duty statute.

Ever since the court thus decided that women were not to get the right to serve on juries along with the right to vote, as they did automatically in other states, the league has worked to secure corrective legislation. Some years it introduced its own bill making women liable for jury duty.

Last year the League supported the bill brought by the six women representatives in the General Court for the improving of jury service generally, including the addition of women on the same basis as men. Again it was killed by a slight margin through jokes and old-fashioned oratory about women's place being in the kitchen.

But this year the League is finding its pioneering effort reinforced by hundreds of women's clubs throughout the state which, banded together, represent a membership of some hundred thousand.

"It will be much more difficult to kill such a bill with ridicule this year," predicts Mrs. Whittemore, "now that so many more people have been made aware of the injustice it seeks to right.

"Massachusetts is the only industrial state in the country which does not use women on juries. Judges in states like Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Ohio which have women on juries, report that mixed juries work extremely well—in some cases it has raised the quality of juries.

PROMPTER DECISIONS

"One judge even wrote that mixed juries produced prompter decisions as they tend to counteract the attitude of men who often when confronted with difficult and lengthy deliberations in the jury room will abandon them for a time to concentrate on questionable stories, poker, and the like.

"Another judge reported that women on juries worked out successfully because they had fewer political obligations of the ward heeler's type to interfere with their trying of cases on their merit.

"Still another judge stated that women were quick at spotting lying by witnesses. This same judge also added that women often get points in a case that men miss.

Soldier Film Ban Protested

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Army and Navy officials are to confer with Senators tomorrow on just how much politics should reach the eyes and ears of American fighters overseas.

The meeting was given new importance by the War Department's announcement that two motion pictures have been banned for overseas on the ground that distribution might be construed as violating the Soldier Voting Act.

The pictures are "Wilson," dramatizing the career of the World War 1 President, and "Heavenly Days," telling of a trip to the nation's capital of radio commedians, Fibber McGee and Molly.

The Soldier Voting Act prohibits the distribution by the armed forces of books, magazines or other material containing matters calculated to influence the results of national elections.

dge Says Dewey For Force in Peace

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—Gov. Walter E. Edge of w Jersey, who said that his views on international co-eration and those of presidential nominee Thomas E. ey coincided, interpreted to- the phrase "peace forces" in Republican platform as em-cing "everything from an edi- al to a 16-inch gun."

statement by Edge that ey regarded the use of "peace es" to prevent or repel aggres- ion as "all inclusive" went be- ond Dewey's own public utter- inces.

Edge, who once criticized the lank as "weasel-worded and mbiguous," issued the statement ate yesterday after a long con- ference with Dewey. A press sec- retary said that Dewey had no comment.

FOR STRONG FORCE

Edge declared that Dewey fav- ored a strong organization "equipped to deal with any future threat to world peace and to sum- mon into action every force need- ed to preserve peace."

"In short," Edge said, "Gov. Dewey is determined that effec- tive means shall be brought into being to assure that any future threat to the peace of the world will be promptly stamped out by international action.

NEW JERSEY SAFE

"On the economic side, Gov. Dewey feels that we must work with other nations to promote monetary stability, a wider inter- national exchange of goods and services, and other commercial and economic progress in order that the underlying causes of war may be guarded against."

Dewey's conference with the New Jersey congressional group was his eighth with state delega- tions, whose views and aid he is seeking.

Rep. Charles A. Eaton predicted that Dewey would carry New Jer- sey, which has 16 electoral votes. Edge said of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Democratic state leader, that "we have given Hague some body blows and we have him on the ropes. He'll get the count of 10 in November.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 10 (AP)—The 75-year-old father of 43 children has become the father of quadruplets, the newspaper El Spectador reported.

He is Abjon Jaramillo, Amalfi Artisan, who had 30 children by his first wife and 13 besides the new arrivals, by his second, the newspaper said.

the Pacific high command that entails major future operations in all areas of the Pacific for many months ahead.

The chief executive said his conference with the generals and admirals of the Pacific high command had been extremely successful. In fact, he said, this conference is one of the most important in which he has participated during the war.

TALKED TO MACARTHUR

Gen. MacArthur hastened back to the Southwest Pacific after his talks with the President, and did not attend the news conference, but Adm. Leahy, Adm. Nimitz, Vice-Adm. Robert L. Ghormley, commandant of the 14th Naval Dist. and Gen. Richardson were present.

Together with the President's naval and military aides, Rear Adm. Wilson Brown and Maj. Gen Edwin M. Watson, his personal physician, Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, Judge Samuel I. Rosenman and OWI Director Elmer Davis, they stood behind the President who was seated on a black leather lawn bench, framed by a circle of slender coconut palms shading the greensward.

Army and Navy fighting planes ranged in the blue sky overhead, and naval patrol boats knifed the horizon.

The President spoke with calm determination of the defeat that confronts Japan.

READY TO CLEAN UP JAPS

Our fighting men, he said, are licking the Japanese at their own game of fighting on the coral atolls and in the dense jungles.

We will clean up Japan, whatever may be required, he continued. We will tear through whatever it takes. The battlefields—all of them—have not yet been chosen, he said at one point when China was mentioned, but we are ready wherever they may be.

He asserted that neither Churchill, Stalin or himself has in any way modified his determination that the Axis must be beaten to the point of "unconditional surrender."

He made it amply clear that the Allies are determined the military might of both Japan and Germany and their ability to make future wars, must be crushed finally and completely.

At the same time he made it clear the United States is not warring on the peaceful peoples of those two countries, and that they need not fear for their own lives when the Jap and German war machines are forced into "unconditional surrender."

The term, he explained, means no terms will be given the armies that would permit them to remain partially intact as future warmakers, but added that we do not intend starving the peoples of the Axis countries after they do surrender.

The President spoke with quiet conviction of the determination to crush Japan's armies and fleets. He refrained from speaking in terms of time, except to indicate it may now be far sooner than anyone heretofore believed possible.

OUR MEN AND TROOPS

His conviction was heightened by the tremendous arsenal he had seen during the three days in which he rode over the island. He saw the almost limitless quantities of fighting materials of all types—land, air and sea—that are piled high in the U. S. Pacific bastion.

He had seen, too, the type of men who are doing the fighting in the Pacific, and the specialized school of jungle fighting through which they are being put by the tens upon tens of thousands before they go into action farther to the west.

At the jungle training camp, the President witnessed assault squads attacking replicas of Jap fortified positions under actual fire and demolish them with machine gun, grenade, bazooka fire and smash them with TNT charges, bangalore torpedoes and flame-throwers.

He saw them assault villages in hand-to-hand street fighting exercises, training for movement through the jungle and of men firing every type of infantry weapon with deadly accuracy.

He saw thousands of combat planes of every conceivable type, both Army and Navy; witnessed a full divisional review by the veteran Seventh division that took Attu and Kwajalein. Saw acres upon acres of arsenals stacked with every conceivable weapon of warfare. He went over every part of the naval base at Pearl Harbor, which since the Jap attack has increased in size to one of the world's largest repair and maintenance bases.

MESSAGE FROM TRUMAN

The President disclosed in his news conference he had received a congratulatory telegram from Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri, his running mate.

Mr. Roosevelt said the vice-presidential candidate had sent him a very nice message.

The Chief Executive again ruled out "partisan" politics, and said he had no new political plans on his return to the mainland. He said he had not heard from Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan since his departure or anyone else besides Sen. Truman.

"Have you any new political plans?" he was asked.

Mr. Roosevelt replied with a fervent, thank heavens, no! that he hadn't thought about politics lately and that he was thankfully in a war zone where politics was not a consideration, where there were more important things to do, the winning of the war.

The President appeared tremendously impressed by the speedy development of all military functions on the island. He made several references to it.

In a speech at the Officers' Club, Schofield Barracks, Mr. Roosevelt said Hawaii through war developments has ceased to be a United States outpost and had become, instead, "one of our rear areas."

"From here we are conducting a campaign," he said, "one more advanced than any other campaign of the past, largely because of the good work you are doing here at this advance base . . .

"It is being felt all through this area—all the way down to Gen MacArthur's area which — thank the Lord! —is coming a little closer towards us and automatically closer to the enemy than it was two years ago . . . I wish everybody back home could see and understand a little more of what's going on out here."

Mr. Roosevelt landed in Pearl Harbor Wednesday, July 26, docking in the harbor where lay the U. S. Pacific battle line which was put out of action on the Sunday morning of Dec. 7, 1944, when the Japanese carrier plane force swept in from the sea and unleashed their attack.

The President spent the next three days in exhaustive war strategy talks with Gen. MacArthur, who had come here to meet him from active operations in New Guinea.

Mr. Roosevelt was tanned as brown as a native Hawaiian and looked rested and fit. He wore a white pin-striped wash suit and dark bow tie.

MacArthur Wins Share of Cheers

WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AT PEARL HARBOR, July 29 (delayed) (INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur was almost as much an object of public excitement as President Roosevelt during the Pacific war strategy conference.

During his drives through Honolulu and island towns on inspection tours of Army, Naval and air installations, people lining the sidewalks craned their necks eagerly to catch a glimpse of the tall, handsome warrior.

Both President Roosevelt and MacArthur drew loud applause. MacArthur arrived before the warship that brought the President.

He wore the same famous old, battered field marshal's cap with faded gold braid which he had worn out of the Philippines, and a leather flying jacket, making a picturesque figure.

At the luncheon and divisional review, MacArthur was given the position of honor on the President's right.

Pope Asks For Food

ROME, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Vatican took steps today to help the Allies relieve the desperate plight of the population of Florence, while Canadian troops, aided by 250 Italian patriots, mopped up hostile Fascist elements in the Allied-held southern portion of the city.

Transportation facilities to send flour and other necessities to the Archbishop of Florence, Elia Della Costa, for distribution to a population suffering from food and water shortages was asked by the Vatican.

At the same time Italian and Polish troops in the Adriatic sector launched a new drive across the Misa river line. The Poles attained the first objectives of the thrust and captured Francavilla, only a mile south of the Cesano river.

Only minor operations were reported along most of the Eighth and Fifth Army fronts as the main body of German forces, which has been resisting strongly in the bend of the Arno river east of Florence, withdrew to the northern banks.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Gaisel; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth G. Sipp, of Flushing, Queens, and Mrs. Kathryn G. Feol of Ridgewood, N. J., and two grandchildren.

Heavies Again Lash Hitler's Oil

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, Aug. 10 (AP)—American heavy bombers from Britain attacked the enemy's crippled oil supply and transport systems in the Paris area today while another fleet from Italy was reported by Berlin to be penetrating Romania and the Danube area, where much Nazi fuel is produced.

Waves of Allied planes crossed the English Channel throughout the morning. Flying weather was unfavorable over much of Normandy and Brittany.

In nine days and nights this month Allied bombers from Britain have battered 14 refineries and synthetic oil plants and 19 oil storage depots in a farflung campaign to dry up the Nazis' fuel supply.

The Germans now are known to be drawing fuel supplies from as far as 200 miles from the front.

A Colossal Waste Of Manpower

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION has reported to the President that the Army service forces have removed 168,649 civilian employes from the payrolls during the past year, thus saving the nation more than one hundred million dollars annually in salaries.

There is no question but that the Army service forces are performing their tasks efficiently, and the present evidence is that they are performing them with fewer employes—which is to their credit.

But the need for civilian manpower conservation by the Federal Government never HAS been caused by military agencies, and was most certainly NOT CAUSED BY THE WAR.

The Federal Government's REAL waste of manpower was a costly practice before the war and was a NEW DEAL POLICY.

The present effort to blame it on the war is only political subterfuge.

SENATOR BYRD of Virginia, chairman of the Joint Committee of Congress on "Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures," recently gave the country the REAL FACTS on bureaucratic waste of civilian manpower under the New Deal Administration.

He disclosed that in practically every State there are more Federal employes performing or PURPORTING to perform Federal duties than there are State employes attending to the business of the State itself.

In fact, said Senator Byrd:

"Our Federal Government now has more persons on the taxpayers' payroll than the COMBINED TOTAL of all the 48 States PLUS ALL THE EMPLOYES OF ALL THE COUNTRY'S COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENTS."

Many States have from THREE TO SIX TIMES as many Federal employes as State employes.

Massachusetts has 21,000 State employes, and 129,000 Federal employes.

In Ohio, which has 25,000 State employes, there are 90,000 employes of the Federal Government.

Pennsylvania has 44,500 State employes, and 215,000 Federal employes.

IN WYOMING, where 1100 State employes are sufficient to conduct the State's affairs, the United States Government maintains 6200 employes.

"These representatives of accumulated executive power have now set up shop in every State and in every nook and corner of the country," said Senator Byrd.

"Bureaucracy, rabbit-wise, is self-multiplying.

"The consequences of its fecundity are everywhere apparent.

"It wastes the people's money, flouts the will of the people's elected representatives and —down to the last crossroads, village and farm —is EXTENDING ITS POWER OVER THE PEOPLE'S LIVES."

It is in the permanent New Deal agencies, its ambitious and greedy and self-perpetuating political agencies, that the institution of wasted manpower has become a malignant growth upon the country, consuming its energies and destroying its resources.

Our real evil, our pernicious and persistent evil, our growing and potentially permanent evil is the bureaucratic NEW DEAL ITSELF, and the American nation should purge itself of that evil and DO IT NOW.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—I suppose everybody in the country, including the two hill trolls who live in our attic, knew about this except me. But I have just been to a racetrack and I would not be surprised if my eyes stayed permanently popped.

I will not tell which track it was for two reasons. One is that my employers do not pay me to frequent racetracks during working hours and I would just as soon they did not have anything specific on me.

The other is that I do not wish certain parties to know what section of the country I have been in.

This may sound very mysterious, if not sinister, but is it my fault if my life is not an open book? And I would just as soon there were no cracks about it being a book that should be suppressed.

I do not go to racetracks very much because my father once warned me that horses and women were the ruination of too many young men. Consequently I have been chary about mixing them. I either go where there are horses or where there are women; but I try to shun places where there are both.

I think I may say, without fear of successful contradiction, that a racetrack is no place to shun a woman. There are hundreds of better shunning spots, and, if you would care to meet me for the summer shunning I will take you around to a few.

I WAS LURED to this sink of iniquity by Mr. Bob Considine, the distinguished sports authority, who is always luring somebody some place or other. In fact, Mr. Considine has been in trouble more than once with the Anti-Lure Society and I only hope he finally gets what is coming to him.

"I think it is your duty to go," said Mr. Considine, who knows I am very hard to lure, particularly in months with no 'R' in them. "I think you will see things of vast political and social significance."

As we got off the train at this unnamed track, which we will call "X," or Belmont Park, I saw a familiar face. I pulled Mr. Considine to one side and whispered:

"Why, there is none other than Brigham Young! What is he doing in a place like this? He should be back in Utah, seeing that his crops are saved by the pigeons."

"He may look like Brigham Young to you," said Mr. Considine, with the tolerant tone he reserves for the imbecilic. "But he is also known as Dean Jagger. He is a motion picture actor and he was only pretending to be Brigham Young. It is what is known as play acting."

"Moreover," added Mr. Considine, "it wasn't pigeons that saved him. It was seagulls."

"That is ridiculous," I snapped. "What would seagulls be doing away out in Utah, so far from Mayor LaGuardia?"

"All right," said Mr. Considine, "we will ask him. 'Oh, Mr. Jagger! Yoo hoo! Which was it—pigeons or seagulls?"

MR. JAGGER did not seem to see anything out of the way about the query. After stating, unequivocally, that it was seagulls, he continued:

"This is a most amazing spectacle. I would not have believed there was this much money left in the whole world. Why, everybody here must be a multimillionaire, or even richer.

"They would not give me much money when they heard I was coming out here," said Mr. Jagger, refusing to reveal whom he meant by 'they.' "I have been patronizing only the $2 windows. But the biggest lines here seem to be at the $50 and $100 windows.

"It alarms me. Of course, I cannot tell about people just by looking at them, but I cannot help a feeling that most of these are not people who normally bet $100 at a crack. They must be getting an unusual lot of money from some place."

"Do you suppose," I asked, "that there could be inflation?"

"I do not think I would care to go that far," said Mr. Jagger, "but there seems to be more money than is healthy. Of course, I do not know how much money you have to have to be unhealthy but this looks like practically an epidemic.

"Personally," continued Mr. Jagger, "I would not be seen in that $100 line—even if they had let me have $100. Not in times like these. I would be afraid some old doll looking like Madame LaFarge would sit by the rail and knit while awaiting the arrival of the tumbril to carry me to the guillotine."

WHEN a very young fellow I was assigned by a New York newspaper to cover Hollywood's film colony. Being very young and possibly a little irresponsible, I did not cover the film colony by going to studios. I gathered news in the lobby of the old Alexandria Hotel, the bar of the same elegant hostelry and the night clubs. Strangely enough, I did all right and what I wrote was among the first news syndicated from Hollywood. I spent night after night in such celebrated after dark spots of that time as the Vernon Country Club, the Ship Cafe, Al Levy's, Nat Goodwin's and the Sunset Inn. In these night clubs, always jammed with Hollywoodians, I never saw a fight between film celebrities. Now such brawls seem an almost weekly occurence. It is not that the Hollywoodians of today are wilder than those of yesteryear. In fact, they are not nearly so wild. But apparently many of them do not know how to be wild in a nice way.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—All right, you're so smart, what is the longest name in the Bible? A—I'll say it is Mahershalalhashbaz. And since you are trying to push me around with Biblical questions I'll ask you to answer these offhand: (1) In what books of the Bible can be found the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount? (2) What is the longest chapter in the Bible? (3) The word eternity appears but once in the Bible, where? If you miss out on these queries, spring them on the chaplain and see what he can do.

Q—We were talking about arguments between umpires and players in the major leagues. I claim I saw a player knock an umpire cold with one punch. It was in Philadelphia, but I forget the names of the battlers. Can you help me? A—I think Sherwood Magee of the Phillies once flattened an umpire named Finnegan. Magee was suspended for a year. If I have this right I am going to congratulate myself on my memory and buy myself a stogie. I know Magee was the player, but am not certain about the umpire's name.

PLEASE NOTE: Born on Oct. 15, Gen. Eisenhower is a Libra. Of those born under this sign the star gazers say: "They are of a kind and generous nature and love peace and quiet above all; abhorring quarreling, confusion and discord." There may be something to this at that. Gen. Eisenhower recently said: "I'll certainly be glad when I can be back again with the old gang at home." The astrologers also state Libra people take a long time to figure things out but "seldom choose the wrong course." So far it looks as if the general was proving that to be true. The lucky day for Libras, claim the star gazers, is Friday. I guess Gen. Eisenhower didn't know that when he picked a Tuesday for D-Day.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: One out of every eight persons marrying these days has been married before. It was Dr. Samuel Johnson who said: "When a man marries for the second time it is a triumph of hope over experience" . . . As the days grow shorter the films seem to be getting longer and longer. The average film lasts 88 minutes, but "Mr. Skeffington," starring Bette Davis, goes on and on for two hours and seven minutes. Darryl Zanuck's super-duper picture, "Wilson," lasts two hours and 43 minutes . . . If a school teacher wears a yellow dress her pupils will behave better. So states a color psychology expert. When school opens, I hope some of our school teacher subscribers will try out this suggestion and report results.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—The only Turkish actor in Hollywood is the new heartbreak, Turhan Bey, who has been told to "stand by." He and all the other Turkish citizens realize that they may be called back to Turkey now that that country is experiencing total mobilization.

I talked today to Turhan, who, since "Dragon Seed," is one of the favorites to the younger set. He said: "Naturally I had to see if my papers were in order and if my country goes into the war I would return to my home. I am still a Turkish citizen and must stand by my country in time of need." He is under contract to Universal, which is planning a big build-up following "Dragon Seed." Metro offered to buy his contract for a fabulous sum, but Universal refused to let him go.

WOULDN'T YOU know it would happen? "Janie" carries on! At least, Warners are cropping up with "Janie Meets the Marines" as a sequel to the original "Janie," the saga of the Bobby Socks brigade which is jumpin' and jivin' at the box office. Gertrude Kich Benthan and Josephine Benthan, the writers, are already headed for Hollywood to start on the new script, which takes up where "Janie" leaves off—with the Marines marching into her home town. Of course, "Heiress" Joyce Reynolds will again play "Janie"—or did you miss my story earlier in the week in which I told you that she has just inherited $200,000 from an aunt and uncle and will also get her father's oil properties?

JOHN WAYNE tells me he cannot possibly make the "Life of Will Rogers" for Warners. He still has "Tall in the Saddle" to finish at RKO, a Republic picture and an overseas engagement. "I won't be free for a year," said John. I asked him about his matrimonial status. He said he was carrying out instructions of Mrs. Wayne's lawyer and had moved out, although her home is still his legal residence. "The next move is hers," he said, "and whatever she wants to do is all right with me." I have seen the Wayne children and I have seldom seen more attractive or better mannered girls and boy. Jo (Mrs. Wayne) is a wonderful mother.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Kay Williams says that Clark Gable is the most thoughtful person in the whole world. On her birthday he planned a dinner for her with flowers and a cake with 19 candles. At her place at the table was a watch and an alligator bag, his gifts to her. Both Clark and Kay steadfastly deny any engagement or any plans to marry, but she is the only girl in whom he appears in the slightest bit interested right now.

FRANK FAY telephoned me long distance from Chicago, terribly distressed over the story put on the air last Sunday by a West Coast commentator that he had secretly married Betty Kean. He pleaded and begged that I deny the story because he said he and Barbara Stanwyck were married in the Catholic Church and it wasn't possible for him to get a dispensation. "I am not married to Betty Kean or anyone else, in the Church or out," said Frank, "And I am not going up my religion, and the story is entirely untrue." Well, here you are, Frank.

Assures Glamour Tint

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

YOU HAVE never looked like this before. And, you never looked lovelier. That is, if you are clever and use your woman's wit.

It has been 40 years since the statuesque beauty with a swan-like throat . . . camellia complexion and regal demeanor was in fashion . . . but she is here with a bang today . . . due to our American fashion designers.

And, because the new clothes are entirely different . . . with their wasp waists . . . curve-defining lines and draped skirts . . . all set off with a real hat . . . you're going to be scrutinized as you haven't been for years . . . even by those who heretofore have taken your beauty at face value. You will have to live to the clothes you are wearing.

Whether your man is lost for words or lost in admiration depends . . . as it always has . . . on whether, when he looks at your face he can also say: "Ah . . . really pretty!" When you wear different-looking clothes everything about you is more noticeable than before. You have to be sure your skin is at its pink of perfection . . . and that your eyes shine.

GIVES JUST THE RIGHT EFFECT

The way you look this year permits no leeway for defects. Your complexion can't be splotchy, your neck dark, or your chest flushed. You must give the illusion of being one lively ivory white shade from the top of your brow to the depth of the dress neckline.

Therefore a powder base is not only a necessity but a positive must. And to keep pace with the newest in fashion . . . a name cosmetic house has created just such a base to take on your rouge with delight and loveliness . . . for you'll have to wear rouge, 'tis said . . . to erase any look of pale and languishing weakness.

This subtint foundation gives just the effect that fashion decrees . . . imparting an opalescent, even sheen . . . a tender smoothness to your skin. It also serves the vital purpose of holding your make-up through day and night . . . for a woman can look coquetish powdering her nose . . . but never elegant or regal.

For the name of this new subtint foundation for the new camellia complexion, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF YOU'RE GOING TO BE the statuesque beauty fashion has decreed for the new season . . . the intriguing pink-and-white gal with swan-like throat and camellia complexion to create the desired illusion of regal splendor . . . you'll want a subtint foundation, newly designed, to give you that ivory look from the top of your brow to the neckline. Joan Bennett poses.

Too Possessive

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

A year and a half ago I met a girl at the plant where I am employed and took her out several times. I'm 27 and she's 22. Her boy friend was in the service at the time and she told me she was in love with him

I continued taking her out and fell in love with her, and she told me she loved me. When her boy friend in the service came home on furlough I asked her not to go out with him, but she did anyway. And now I'm wondering whether she's really in love with me. A. V. P

Don't you think it was pretty high-handed to tell the girl not to go out with her first love when he came home on furlough?

It doesn't do to be too possessive, especially with a high-spirited girl.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, WEDNESDAY—The newspapers make interesting reading these days. On all the war fronts, in spite of great sacrifices, advances are made, but when you begin to read domestic news you are struck by the division of interests which seems to enter into all the questions that are under discussion.

I HAVE COME to the conclusion that if we could set up one of two standards by which we measured our thinking today it would be a tremendous help. This would be to take a bill as it came up, or a candidate, or an organization, and say: "We want material things to serve human beings, we will work for material ends which we believe will benefit human beings; but as between material profit and the profit that might accrue to human beings there is only one choice—the interest of the people must be served."

Business is desperately important to us now. It should be given every legitimate help because we want the business enterprises of the country to continue to function at top production. We do not want this primarily, however, so that unlimited profits can be made on investments. We want the jobs which full production will bring us. We have to have those jobs because, unless the people have them, their standard of living will go down and they will not be able to buy the goods which full production will produce.

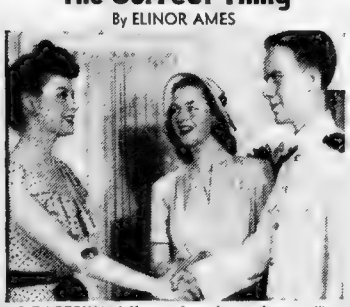
SMALL BUSINESSES have always provided a great many jobs, and it seems to me that both big businesses and the public should be interested in seeing small businesses get a break.

The armed services continue, of course, as long as the war lasts, to be primarily interested in the production of war goods. They have to turn to such organizations as produce these goods most quickly and most efficiently. In planning for the future, however, we must not allow one group or a few groups of people to take the place which the armed services have occupied during the war period.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES



BE TACTFUL! When a friend introduces a "new man" don't presume there's a budding romance. Don't imply that he is a beau. Jumping to such conclusions is embarrassing to both the young woman and her escort!

Test New Colors Now

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS COMING September is going to see the launching of a good many fresh, new colors, and you might like to try one of them on yourself.

It is a fine thing to change your color scheme every so often, even though the colors you generally wear are what you think the most becoming on you. There is always another color that is going to be becoming, too, and now if ever is the time to find it. All the colors are in style.

You will be a lot more effective in a new color, for you will be able to wield the weapon of surprise, which is just as useful to a woman as it is to an army. If you are a girl who thinks blue is her color, then try something quite different like a shade of red, or green or violet. There are violets that are flattering to all the girls who look good in blue, by the way.

Cookies and Lemonade Grand Hospitality Pair

By MARTHA LEE

MUCH HAS BEEN WRITTEN about the "Good Neighbor" policy so it seems like a wonderful idea to adopt some of its principles right in our own community. For this is the day to get better acquainted with your next door neighbor and discover how much you have in common. Summertime has always been the season for good fellowship and this year it is particularly true, with so many of us spending our vacations at home.

Lemonade and Cookies

And speaking of hospitality and neighborliness — can you think of an easier combination to serve your friends than a tall, frosty pitcher of lemonade accompanied by cookies? It's easy to have these two "hot-weather companions" ready for unexpected callers. You can make a batch of cookies in no time It's a good plan, too, to have a roll or two of ice box cookies dough in the refrigerator to be sliced and baked in a few minutes.

With this combination on hand, believe us, you'll be prepared for any caller

RAISIN BRAN GINGERSNAPS

1 cup sifted flour
½ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. ginger
½ cup molasses
6 tbsp. shortening
2 cups raisin bran

Sift flour once, measure, add soda, salt and ginger, and sift again. Combine molasses and shortening, bring slowly to a boil and boil gently two minutes, stirring constantly. Cool to lukewarm. Add raisin bran, mix well. Add flour mixture, mixing thoroughly, Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll ¼ inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut with floured 1¾ inch cutter. Bake on greased baking sheet in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 10 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen.

SOUR CREAM REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

3 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup sugar
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
½ cup sour cream

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Cream shortening; gradually add the sugar, creaming well. Add flavoring. Stir in flour alternately with sour cream; chill. Shape in rolls about 2 inches in diameter and wrap each in waxed paper. Chill thoroughly in refrigerator. Cut chilled dough in ⅛ inch slices, place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 8 minutes. Makes 9 dozen cookies.

LEMONADE

The "makings" for lemonade are easily kept on hand—sugar (or honey if you wish to save ration points), plenty of ice, a bag of lemons. Be sure to check your lemon supply before making out each market order, for once your family acquires a taste for lemonade, you'll wish to encourage them in this health drink habit.

Lemonade is so easy to prepare even the children can make it. Extract the juice from a lemon for every person to be served. In this juice dissolve 1 to 3 tablespoons of sugar or honey. Sweetness will depend on taste. It is better to have the drink on the sour side and add more sugar than to have it too sweet. Add chilled water, or ice and water, to fill a large glass. Garnish with slices of lemon, mint sprigs, berries or cherries, if liked.

READY-TO-MIX LEMONADE

For lemonade at a minute's notice, use this ready-to-mix lemon and sugar syrup, which calls for:

2 cups lemon juice
1 cup sugar (use more or less to taste)
¼ tsp. grated lemon peel

Combine and stir to dissolve all the sugar. Store syrup in a glass jar or other covered glass (not metal) container in the refrigerator. It will keep for several days. For each serving of lemonade combine ¼ cup of the lemonade-sugar syrup and water and ice, to fill a large glass A bottle of chilled water may be kept beside the lemon-sugar syrup. Makes 8 to 10 glasses of lemonade.

Home Wedding Plan Best

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My mother would like to have me to be married at home, but our rooms are only average size, and I am committed to two attendants, my only sister and my best friend. Wouldn't two attendants seem inappropriate under these circumstances? B.

No; even with limited space you may appropriately have two attendants.

Missing Newton Ace Wins Medal

Award of the Navy Cross to Lt Robert M. Hanson, missing Newtonville Marine fighter pilot, was announced today by Marine Corps headquarters in Washington.

Lt. Hanson, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry A. Hanson of Brooks ave., Newtonville, who has been missing since Feb. 3, only recently was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, first serviceman in this area to win the nation's highest award for heroism.

The missing flier had been credited with knocking down 25 Jap planes when he was last seen plummeting to the sea in his own craft in a South Pacific air duel.

As further honor was accorded to the missing ace, Boston University presented the honorary degree of doctor of philosophy to his father today. The degree was conferred in absentia as Dr. Hanson, a prominent missionary, is at sea, bound for India

More Witnesses Heard In Night Club Slaying

Among witnesses thus far introduced by Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle is Doris E. Close, 27, of Lakewood, N. J., a blonde dancer at the club, over whom Formica and Rubin are alleged to have quarreled.

Weymouth 4-H War on Ragweed

Credited with one of the most effective battles against ragweed, 500 members of the 4-H Club of Weymouth, directed by Miss E. Brassill, Oak st., are not only veterans of five years' experience and not only fighting in conjunction with the Junior Victory Army's 1944 campaign, but already planning next year's attack.

This year her troops are planning to press and mount specimen's under cellophane to exhibit early in 1945 for wider education and greater help on the battle-front against this menace to hay fever and asthma victims.

One year samples were displayed in school rooms to acquaint all pupils with ragweed. Then similar displays were provided for stores, local newspapers, libraries and other public places, through help of the board of health, Women's Garden Club and other organizations, Miss Bassill reports.

"We regard it as a fifth columnist and believe we are doing a real war job because its destruction means more man hours and letter work by those employed in war production.

"An example is the case of one of our boys who had a few minutes to wait at a bus stop He pulled 300 ragweed plants before the bus arrived"

Heidt Takes Over at K-Boston

Horace Heidt with the Musical Knights and a complete revue take the stage of the RKO-Boston today. The screen attraction is "Johnny Doesn't Live Here Any More," starring Simone Simon and James Ellison.

Heidt and his organization have been prime favorites the country over for 10 years. Fred Lowery, America's foremost whistling virtuoso, is still with the band.

Jess Stacy, former Benny Goodman star, is Heidt's featured pianist, and Bob Matthews, recently honorably discharged from the Army, is the singing star of the show.

The Seven Sweet Swingsters give out with an irresistible style, and Dorese Midgeley is an exciting addition to the revue.

As an added attraction, Heidt presents during his show the well-known "Treasure Chest." The audience participates and there is general fun for all at every show. Also cash prizes.

"Johnny Doesn't Live Here Any More" is a funny yarn of a girl whose private life is anything but that. Simone Simon sublets an apartment only to find that a flock of men go with the apartment.

In addition to James Ellison the cast includes Minna Gombell, Chick Chandler and Alan Dinehart.

'Men to the Sea' At Wilbur Sept. 11

Howard Bay has been commissioned to design the settings for Dave Wolper's forthcoming production of Herbert Kubly's play, "Men to the Sea," which is being directed by Eddie Dowling.

"Men to the Sea," will be seen for two weeks at the Wilbur, beginning Sept. 11, prior to its new York opening.

The Casino

Undaunted by the past, the Casino Theater on Hanover st. is going to open up again with burlesque. The house is reported considerably altered and renovated.—Opening date is Friday, Aug. 18.

'Marine Raiders' Held Over

"Marine Raiders," stirring tale of America's Devil-Dogs, starring Pat O'Brien, Ruth Hussey and Robert Ryan, is now in its second week at the Keith Memorial. "Twilight on the Prairie," with Johnny Downs, also holds over.

Pat O'Brien and Robert Ryan portray two brother officers in the Marines and Miss Hussey is cast as a lieutenant in the Australian Women's Air Auxiliary.

A love affair develops between Miss Hussey and Ryan, but their marriage plans are upset when Ryan is sent back to the United States through the efforts of his brother, who does not believe in war marriages, at least for Ryan.

The film affords many spectacular scenes and shows in detail the elaborate training of the Marine Corps, with much magnificent action thrown in.

"Twilight on the Prairie" is an amusing comedy musical with several hit tunes.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—Peggy Fears and A. C. Blumenthal will get that long-delayed divorce this fall . . . Judy Garland and Lana Turner, who used to be pals, have chilled over a lad . . . Georgie Jessel's most genuine heart throb is a Chicago beauty who is about to divorce her very wealthy husband. She follows him around the continent . . . Madeleine Carroll is slated for a government citation for the brilliant work she has been doing overseas . . . The Jack Durants (Molly O'Day) expect twins . . . A soup company has the inside track on Clark Gable's radio signature — a series which will net him $8500 weekly

Judy Garland

Broadway gamblers are amazed at the amount of Dewey money around town. Odds on the election have gone down from 16-5 to 2-1 in a month . . . Comedian Ray Boubon, Mae protege, has handed in his notice at "Catherine Was Great" after a series of clashes with Director Roy Hargrave.

AL (L'IL ABNER) CAPP and Ann Mace of the Diamond Horseshoe beauties are a heart toddy . . . The United States has a new weapon even more sensational than the robot bombs. Adolf will be sooooo surprised! . . . David Rose and Gloria DeHaven have decided to override her parents' objection to their engagement. They're holding hands again in public . . . Male star of a Broadway hit musical is being trailed by detectives employed by his wife, who objects to his interest in a blonde in the show. It'll be another Chili Williams case if it gets to the newspapers . . . When Zanuck does "One World" Spencer Tracy will play the Wendell Willkie role . . . The Duke of Windsor has Southampton natives agog . . . Strolls around in his bare tootsies!

ROSCOE ATES is expected to marry Verna Rodik when he is divorced. She's part of a sister team in the entertainment unit Ates is taking overseas . . . Jack Topping's square cut emerald engagement ring was presented to Lois Andrews in a crackerjack box, Cartier's might like to know . . . Washington insiders report that Anna Boettiger, in her new secretarial duties, is one of the big powers in the White House . . . Allan Jones, Woody Herman and a motorcycle cop flattened six zooters who were making the rounds to "clean up" radio crooners . . . The cleanup is over . . . Turhan Bey and Susanna Foster are sniffing orange blossoms . . . Joan Edwards' doctors have given her permission to sing again on Aug 12.

ALICE FAYE'S difficulty with her studio stems from her desire for a metamorphosis. She doesn't want to be in musicals any more; has a yen to go dramatic, like Ginger Rogers . . . The Bradley Smiths (he's the magazine photog) are expecting their sixth . . . Night life note: A glass of orange juice costs $2 at El Morocco . . . Carol Bruce is so in love with Gene Krupa she only goes to night clubs in the company of married couples. Afraid an appearance with a single group might lead to an item that she was romancing with another fellow . . . Jackie Gleason landed one of radio's biggest commercials because Bobby Clark backed out at the last minute. Gleason auditioned, using the script that had been prepared for Clark—and wowed the sponsor . . . One of Hollywood's "happiest" couples will surprise the nation by parting. It will be her third divorce, his second . . . Intimates contend Al Hoffman, the beverage tycoon, has been secretly married to his secretary for several months. He was formerly Mitzi Mayfair's mate . . . Mrs. Harrison (best-dressed) Williams is taking lessons from Helen Riggs, the dramatic coach. The reason could be politics, theater lecturing—or just amusement. Stories around town of a huge Wall Street war-end pool in which the first, second and third winners will get $1,000,000. Tickets are numbered from Aug. 15 to Jan. 15 at $1000 a chance.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—It's the audience that gets the praise or the panning from the exhibitors in the Motion Picture Herald in this particular batch of reviews.

Exhibitor A. L. Dove of Bengough, Sask., Can., tells about his audience at "Mission to Moscow": "This is a production for larger communities where patrons are interested in world politics . . ." How do you like that? Merely because a town is small, this exhibitor implies that the peoples aren't interested in what's going on in the world.

Exhibitor F. R. Crist of Loveland, O., writes about "A Guy Named Joe": "This is a very much over estimated picture of two parts; the first part slow and the second part far-fetched. My audience liked it and we did good business, so there is nothing for me to kick about but the sliding scale." This exhibitor admits that he and his audience don't agree.

And about "Lifeboat," Exhibitor Cleo Manry of Buena Vista, Ga., writes: "This is positively no small town show. Several of my patrons walked out and you know how this makes you feel. We did terrible business."

But the topper is the comment of Exhibitor Leonard J Leise of Randolph, Neb., who has this to say about "Tunisian Victory": "This was certainly a disappointment at our box office, as only the few who follow the war really enjoyed it. These pictures are not the entertainment the patrons want and pay for." This is certainly a condemnation of the people of that town if this exhibitor's remark is true: that only a few people follow the war.

HERE, HOWEVER, are a few pictures that audiences and exhibitors liked. Exhibitor J. A. Reynolds of Trenton, N. J., writes about "Princess O'Rourke": "The title fooled many of us, and the humorous unfolding of the old fairy tale of the princess and the commoner, in modern settings, came as a delightful surprise . . . This is one of the best comedies of the season, with a valuable 'assist' contributed by Falla who puts on the 'dog' at the White House."

Exhibitor C. L. Niles of Anamosa, Ia., has only superlatives about "Cover Girl": "Here's the outstanding Technicolor musical of the year. It has everything: girls, songs, dancing, comedians, and beauty."

There is a difference of opinion about "You Can't Ration Love," for the exhibitor of North Vernon, Ind., writes: "This is a novel idea, but it's a little far fetched. There are a few laughs and the music is fair, but it had no names and we did terrible business."

While Exhibitor E. M. Freiburger of Dewey, Okla., writing about the same picture says: "This is a routine musical show which did average business."

Boston After Dark

PATRICIA PEARDON, the 18-year-old actress who surged to the fore in "Junior Miss," has been signed for Dave Wolper's "Men to the Sea," due at the Wilbur Sept. 11 . . . The play is written by Herbert Kubly, a New York reporter . . . It concerns the trials of a group of sailors' wives who live together to ward off loneliness while their husbands are at sea . . . Miss Peardon's father is a lieutenant commander in the Navy, incidentally.

A QUITE COMPLICATED STORY of the temperamental differences of a maestro and his vocalist has ended on a blithe note . . . Vince Ladell, the vocalist, is now starred on a network here for three coast-to-coast shots a week . . . Leo Reisman, the maestro, has hired himself a girl-singer . . . All are happy . . . Service men are writing to their folks for cigarettes, asking that they be shipped to fighting fronts in the Pacific.

IN THE FIRST World War, soldiers and sailors were dependent largely on their friends and relatives for cigarettes, but the general opinion this time was that the smokes-situation was well in hand . . . "Smoke from My Cigarette" (which has nothing to do with the preceding item) is the title of a song writen by PHm 3-c Duke Bradshaw, U. S. Naval Hospital, and Cliff Dixon . . . Kemp Read introduced the number at Luke's Lodge, Newport, in the presence of Senator David I. Walsh and a party which included Commanders Hall and Brown and James Dooley of Boston . . . The Senator asked for an encore . . . Pianist Read was leader of a 12-piece orchestra well-known in Greater Boston until the war forced him to dis-band.

THERE ARE TWO SCHOOLS of thought on the Joe Cronin-Jimmy Foxx controversy—a long-standing affair which flared anew when Jamesy contributed a scathing critique of Cronin to the service-paper Yank . . . Joe Dugan, the ol' jumpin'-Joe of the Ruth Yankees, was an arbiter in the feud sometime ago . . . "You went out a big-leaguer, Jimmy," Dugan advised the famous old warhorse of the A's and Red Sox. "Stay that way!" . . . Foxx, nonetheless, struck a familiar chord on his anvil when he deprecated Cronin's ability to handle pitchers . . . Out of the situation has come one unfortunate development . . . Foxx and Tom Yawkey once were boon companions, and hunting mates . . . No longer!

THE CAMBRIDGE Summer Theater will try out a new play the week of Aug. 28, and Walter Hampden will play the lead . . . Arthur J. Beckhard, who produced "Goodbye, Again," will be at the directorial controls, and an associate producer with John Huntingdon and Louise Falk . . . Danny Manley, the former N. E. bantam charan, is running the Blue and Gold Tavern in Central sq., Cambridge, and the place is a roaring success . . . Another former Boston champion, Dick "Honeyboy" Finnegan, relinquished the operation of his tavern in Neponset for the duration. "Honeyboy" is writing interesting letters from his ringside seat in the South Pacific . . . Jim McCrystal has been accredited as representative of disabled veterans in the presentation of claims to the Veterans Bureau, the first Taunton man to get such a post since the last war . . . His friend, Paul George, was elected junior vice-commander at the Parker House convention of the disabled veterans

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Gillette Aid Saved 35 Million Show

By JACK CONWAY

FINAL FIGURES released by the Treasury Department show that more than $35,000,000 of war bonds were sold to persons who attended the recent Bob Montgomery-Beau Jack bout at Madison Square Garden, New York. It is estimated that the sale of war bonds was also stimulated in all parts of the country as a result of the broadcast sponsored from the ringside by the Gillette Safety Razor Co. of Boston.

The Treasury Department also revealed that the great bond effort was made possible by the Gillette Safety Razor Co. taking over the entire expense of the show which amounted to $16,000.

Bill Corum

While Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery were willing to donate their services as boxers and Mike Jacobs was prepared to do the promotion work, the Treasury Department found there was the Madison Square Garden rental, training expenses of the main bout boxers, payment for preliminary boxers who could not be expected to box without compensation, tickets, telephone charges and the numerous other expenses of a bout of such magnitude that it attracted almost 16,000 persons to the New York Garden.

There was a period in radio broadcasting of boxing bouts when the so-called "house" fighter received all of the breaks. It was considered good policy to buildup the boxer who was under contract with the club where the match was held. Since the Gillette Safety Razor Co. has been sponsoring the broadcasting of ring bouts this gross injustice to the public has been eliminated.

The Boston company is entitled to credit for making a $35,000,000 war bond show possible, and also in getting the bunk out of radio broadcasts of boxing bouts.

The Gillette Safety Razor Co. assumed this $16,000 expense as part of its effort in aiding the Treasury Department's bond selling effort. It also donated generously of its radio time to promote the sale of bonds in all parts of the counutry.

Once the Gillette Safety Razor Co. made the financial guarantees, it was possible to stage the lightweight battle that sold more than $35,000,000 bonds to those persons who watched Beau Jack win a close decision over Bob Montgomery.

Broadcasts Improved

AS ONE who likes boxing, I think the Gillette Safety Razor Co. has done much to eliminate the evils that formerly surrounded the broadcasting of boxing bouts. It has secured impartial reporters who have given radio listeners accurate accounts of what has happened in the ring and also the color surrounding the matches. Personally I greatly enjoy Bill Corum's graphic summaries of what has happened in the ring. Bill is one of the fairest as well as one of the best sports columnists in this country.

Radio in Sports

I HAVE always felt that good radio reporting was helpful to sports. At a time when there was a national movement on to ban radio broadcasting at major sports events this writer gave Frank Fallon permission to send a ringside account of the All-American bouts over WMEX. The fact the show sold out the Garden was perfect proof that the attendance was not injured by the fact the broadcast was put on the air.

I believe radio broadcasts of sports events stimulate interest which is helpful over the long range period. The fact the Notre Dame-Michigan game was on the air last fall did not prevent 88,000 persons jamming the Bowl at Ann Arbor, Michigan. I listened to Harry Wismer's excellent broadcast of that game.

This writer broadcasted the first boxing show ever put on the air in Boston. It was between Johnny Wilson and Tommy Loughran.

There were some amusing happenings in the early days of radio broadcasting in Boston. On one occasion a young Harvard student, with a fine radio voice, was selected to broadcast a bout between Eddie Shevlin, at the time New England welterweight champion, and Tansy Norton of Boston The Harvard man got the boxers confused when they were introduced. He thought Shevlin was Norton and the latter the champion.

The broadcaster did not find out his error until the bout was over. Amazed listeners were told Norton knocked out Shevlin in two rounds when the reverse of this was true. Radio broadcasting, like most other things, has come a long way.

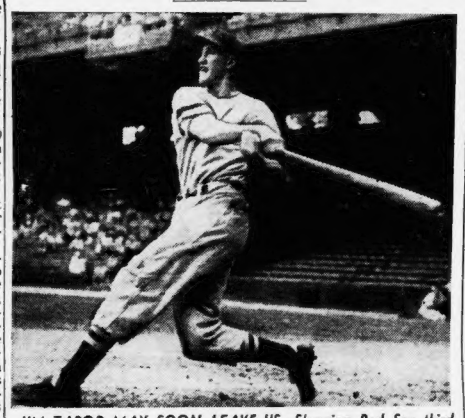
'Good Luck, Hughson, You've Been Just Swell'

By BILL GRIMES

"I wish you would extend my most sincere appreciation to the New England baseball fans for the treatment they afforded me while I was a member of the Red Sox," declared Cecil "Tex" Hughson before he went out to pitch his final game for the Red Sox for the duration yesterday afternoon at Fenway Park. "And I also want to thank you writers. Your complimentary stories helped immeasurably."



JIM TABOR MAY SOON LEAVE US—Slugging Red Sox third sacker goes up before draft board today for physical examination. Jim's draft board papers have been forwarded from his Alabama home. If Tabor, Finney and Doerr are accepted in the service, it leaves only Shortstop Skeeter Newsome as a regular to carry on.

"I suppose, Tex, you saw the 'story,' which expressed Jimmy Foxx' opinion of Joe Cronin as a handler of pitchers?" we asked.

"Yes, I did," replied the Red Sox ace. "I think Jimmy is a fine fellow. I like him very much. But, I not only do not agree with his opinion of the 'Skipper's' judgment in handling pitchers, I think his remarks were wholly uncalled for.

"Joe Cronin is the finest fellow I ever worked for," continued the Texan. "Since I've been with the club he's never had a surplus of pitchers who could go the distance. So it was impossible for him to rotate his starting hurlers. And, because they were not able to take their regular turns, some of the boys weren't in shape when they got into action.

FINE TRIBUTE TO CRONIN

"Is it a manager's fault, if a pitcher hasn't got his stuff when called upon to work? Not in my book. Anytime I got into serious trouble when I was pitching, it wasn't Cronin's fault. It was mine.

"Baseball has always been a serious business with me. I did well enough while I was pitching for the University of Texas to warrant 'Uncle' Billy Diesch, my coach, recommending me to the Red Sox. I wanted to make good, so I could be in a position to get big money. And, I knew that unless I kept myself in good physical condition, I'd never reach my objective. Every spring I went to camp, I was in shape, for instead of sitting around the stove in the general store down in my home at Kyle, Tex., during the winter months, I kept active around my ranch.

"I'm no preacher, but my advice to pitchers is to keep their legs in shape by running daily. If they do they'll be ready when called upon by the boss to work and there will be less criticism of managers like Joe Cronin, who knows baseball from every angle and for whom it has been my pleasure to work for three years. He helped me and he'll help any pitcher, who is smart enough to follow his advice.

"I wish Joe Cronin and the Red Sox the best of luck and I know the New England fans, who were so grand to me, will stick with the club right down to the wire."

From the moment they went into action yesterday, it was very apparent that the Red Sox, to a man, were determined to do everything in their power to help "Tex" Hughson chalk up his 18th victory of the season. As we saw it, they have never displayed such determination. They went all out for Cecil "Tex" Hughson, who has been their ace for three years and the most willing worker Owner Tom Yawkey has ever had on the Red Sox pay roll.

Tabor Called

Shortstop "Skeeter" Newsome will be left. That's all. This morning, Jim Tabor, the slugging Sox third baseman, will appear before the re-examination physical board at Commonwealth ave. and learn whether he'll continue to work for Tom Yawkey or Uncle Sam. Papers covering Tabor's draft status arrived last night from his home in Cross Roads, Alabama. With Lou Finney, the first baseman, and Bobby Doerr, the great second baseman, also soon to appear before the same board, it looks as though the Red Sox will have to depend upon Newsome, who has some five kids who might help to take care of the entire infield.

Stiff Easterly Is Marblehead Help

By JOHN AHERN

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 10—A touch of old times returned to the 'Head with the renewal of big boat racing in the one-day Boston Yacht Club regatta and starting in today's first Corinthian race the tonnage is expected to increase appreciably.

The old-timers didn't come back in classes, but several thrashed up the choppy sea in the large handicap division and the picture of the lofty stickers beating out into the easterly was the prettiest nautical shot of the year.

The winner of the first haul was Joseph Santry's famous old Q boat, Taygeta, which was sailed by none other than Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery. The black hulled 23 rater cut through the water like a knife through butter once she took the "bone in her teeth" and none of the others, including Homer Hill's big cutter, Java, and Porter Johnson's 10 meter, Dee-Dee-Jay, could come close.

Dick Seaman's Eight Meter boat, Aurora, made a good bid up wind but Taygeta's longer water line gave her that much more speed across and down wind.

Alfred Chase clearly won the Boston trophy and today he starts after his second prize, the coveted Corinthian award. Chase has been Marblehead's tough luck skipper this season and it's nice to see the Viking come through after so many disappointments.

Rich and Hutchings Come to the Braves

Woodrow Wilson Rich, one of the most brilliant pitching prospects in baseball until he developed a sore arm with the Red Sox a few years back, last night became the property of the Boston Braves. The Boston club acquired him from Indianapolis, along with John Hutchings, a heavyweight hurler who was up with the Braves once before. Rich is 27, Hutchings, 28.

In return for the two pitchers, the Braves gave Indianapolis Outfielder Chet Ross, Pitcher Stanley Klopp and a slice of cash.

The cash must have been appreciable, because Ross and Klopp both have passed their selective service physical exams, and in addition the Braves retained the right to recall Ross on 24 hours' notice.

Helen Carroll Again Magnet

Helen Carroll's Winchester Swimming Club, swimming in its own back yard, will be dominating a promising field in the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser-Winchester Park Department Swimming meet to be held Saturday afternoon at Leonard Pool, Winchester.

Miss Carroll will send 18 representatives into the nine-event program with a strong possibility of coming through with a lion's share of the honors.

In the women's Mass. State 440-yard championship, Winchester will have Edith Dover, June Moffette, Joy Pray, Anna Murray and June Record; in the 110-yard N. E. A. A. A. U. Junior championship will be Misses Moffette, Pray and Helen McGowan; the girls 50-meter freestyle, open, will have Barbara Young, Mabel Henderson, Veronica Carpenter, Virginia Gaffney and Beverly Gay, and the 50-meter freestyle open will have Barbara Donaghey, Rose McGowan, Althea Grace and Miss Dover.

Male representation will find Bob Wilson and Mike Gambino in the 100-meter freestyle open.

Nearly 12,000 Pay Tribute to Hughson

"Tex" Hughson hung up his 18th victory of the season yesterday and today is on his way home to report for duty with the Navy . . . He was nervous throughout his final game . . . He wanted to be the first American League pitcher of the year to turn in 18 wins . . . He was keyed up a trifle too much, but his teammates went to work on Bill Dietrich and Jake Wade and drove across seven runs in five innings, during which time "Tex" limited the Pale Hose to one hit.

Little Frankie Kelly, the visiting club's batboy, scrambled out of Jim Tabor's way when "Rawhide" raced over by the Chicago bench to gather in Roy Schalk's foul in the opening inning.

A glance at the paid attendance (11,215) shows how much the fans think of "Tex" Hughson . . . But for the fact Hughson was pitching his last game, the crowd would have been in the neighborhood of 2500 . . . The fans gave "Tex" a great hand when he appeared at the plate in the second . . . Incidentally, "Tex" made two hits and drew a walk.

Bob Johnson and Jim Tabor contributed home runs, the former's 12th and the latter's 8th of the year . . . Bobby Doerr tripled his first and second times at bat and then walked on his next two times up.

Eddie Carnett must have fouled off more than a dozen pitches in the 6th . . . He "low bridged" the members of the Fourth Esta.. three times.

Hugnson was in trouble in the seventh but a fast double play, Doerr to Newsome to Finney ended the threat . . . Oscar Judd pitched patting practice and judging from the fact that he threw overhand, side arm and under arm, his arm is O. K.

With the Red Sox leading 9 to 0 going into the final round, "Tex" eased up a little and the White Scx scored their lone run . . . He gave up only four hits, three of which were "bloops."

Hambletonian To Yankee Maid

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—Last winter A. L. Derby could have sold Yankee Maid for $30,000. Today, the Wichita, Kan., oilman was thankful that he had turned down E. J. Baker's offer, for the bay daughter of Volomite rules the three-year-old trotters after her easy straight-heat triumph in the 19th Hambletonian.

Loser of only one of her five two-year-old starts in taking the 1943 juvenile title, and beaten once in the same number of trips to the post this season, Yankee Maid already has won close to $40,000—a good investment on the $1500 derby paid as a yearling for the half-sister of the world's champion trotter, Greyhound.

The filly, who was foaled on Henry Knight's Almahurst farm in the Kentucky Blue Grass, will have a chance to prove an even better investment when again she clashes with the pick of the three-year-olds in the Horsemen's Futurity at Greenville, Ohio, the week of August 21.

And the manner in which the Maid won the $18,467 at Good Time Park yesterday indicated she'll have no trouble putting more shekels in the pockets of her owner.

2 New Players Join Braves

Two new players were welcomed to the Wigwam today following swap and cash deals by the Boston Braves management.

Woody Rich was purchased from Indianapolis in exchange for cash and Stan Klopp, relief pitcher. Chet Ross was sent out on option as part of the deal. Rich was a rookie pitcher with the Red Sox several years ago until he suffered a sore arm.

John Hutchings, who was with the team a few years ago, was purchased from the same club for cash.

Yankees Convinced Browns Flag Bound

By Associated Press

Boston's hopes for its first pennant since 1918 faded today as Tex Hughson prepared to report for Navy duty and the St. Louis Browns showed no signs of cracking in the stretch.

Hughson, due to report to the Navy Aug. 28, was scheduled to start home today with the satisfaction of hurling a four-hit job against Chicago for his 18th victory.

Although Hughson chipped in with two hits and Jim Tabor and Bob Johnson rapped homers, the Red Sox failed to gain on the front-running Brownies by their 9-1 slaughter of Chicago. It was their 13th triumph in 15 starts against their White Sox "cousins."

AL SAVVES BROWNS

Al Zarilla protected St. Louis' 6½ game margin over Boston by cracking a game-winning homer in the ninth inning to stop the New York Yankees, 3-2, as the Brownies grabbed their ninth straight win to tie their early-season string.

The Yankees, needing a clean sweep of the series to get back in the scrap, faded 8½ games off the pace as the Browns rallied to tie in the eighth on George McQuinn's single and win in the ninth on Zarilla's clout off Hank Borowy. Sig Jakucki, who pitched the last two heats after Luke Sewell lifted Bob Muncrief for a pinch hitter, was credited with his 10th victory.

Playing before 18,074, the largest week-day paid attendance of the year at Yankee Stadium, the Browns performed like pennant winners and did everything right to grab a very important game.

SMITH HITS TWO HOMERS

Hal Newhouser matched Hughson with his 18th win as Detroit topped Washington, 4-2, and Early Wynn suffered his 10th successive loss. Newhouser with 18, and teammate Dizzy Trout with 17, took over the race for high game winner all to themselves with Hughson hanging up his glove for the duration. It was the Tigers' sixth straight victory and the Senators' 19th loss in their last 22.

Al Smith slugged home two runs in the first inning and then settled back to pitch Cleveland to a 4-3 edge over Philadelphia, sprinkling eight hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals, hot after a Labor Day flag clinching in the National, upped their margin to 17½ by trimming the Phils, 4-2, with reliefer Max Lanier getting the nod over Ken Raffensberger. It was the 73d win in 100 starts for the Cards, tying a league recod.

Brooklyn puled out of the cellar as Curt Davis scattered 10 Chicago blows for a 5-2 edge over Chicago's Hank Wyse. Fritz Ostermueller picked up win No. 10 for Pittsburgh at New York's expense, 4-3, although he gave 10 safeties, and the Boston Braves outslugged Cincinnati, 9-6, to give Al Javery the nod over Arnie Carter.

Four day games outdrew four night games for the first time this season, 42,836 to 40,909.
